Dear Robert:

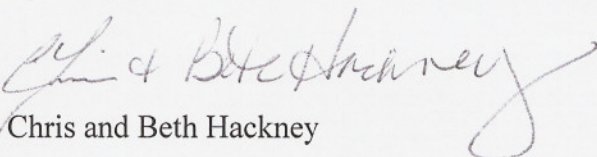

My wife and I wanted to thank you and the entire team at Ed's Comfort Solutions for putting our project together. The new Trane XR 15 Weathertron, components and duct work are at their peak performance.

From the initial discussions of feasibility, available technology, mechanical systems and costs, to the completion of the installation, everyone was patient with our questions and informative with their answers. The politeness and efficiency of the crew was second to none. We thank you and them for educating us through the entire process.

The new unit with the CleanEffects filtration system is warming our home this cold winter like never before. And we both have noticed much improved and easier breathing. We are looking forward to the comfort this system will provide during the hot summer months and many years to come while maximizing energy efficiency.

You and everyone we have been in touch with has been a consummate professional in taking care of our needs.

Sincerely,

Chris and Beth Hackney
